

Once upon a time, somewhere in time and space,
there is a little girl wanting to understand her dreams.

As she starts focusing on them she gets clear messages at night : `Trust the Universe`, `Get aligned`.

Now she knows she can catch her dreams.

She understands that she is guided and while sucking her thumb, she knows she is watched over by lovingly spiritual beings.

Realizing she is not alone,
she starts to understand the wonder of everything.

She looks around and finds all the beauty that surrounds her.

What a creativity! Look at the colors of animals and nature and all the diversity. What an abundance!!!

Overwhelmed she sheds tears of gratitude.

Synchronicity becomes part of her daily life, like meeting that person she was thinking about, and she starts to realize that her thoughts are the source of her own creation.

And she understands Source as such : we are all part and made of the most wonderful, interstellar, galactic STARS !!!!!

The end.

ps. : I hope my simple story gave you a mental detox :)))
